FOREWORD

The Office of the Registrar of Newspapers for India (RNI) in its 60th year of establishment continues its steadfast journey of rendering valuable services to publishers in the country.

The compilation of an Annual Report on the print media in the country is one of the most important statutory functions of RNI under Section 19G of the Press and Registration of Books Act, 1867. The report, submitted to Government of India under the title 'Press in India', is an analysis of the press scenario in India. Since the establishment of the office on 1st July 1956, RNI has brought out 59 reports in 'Press in India' series and I am proud to present this 60th report of the prestigious series.

Marching towards realizing Digital India dream, RNI is advancing towards digitizing its various services to the publishers. Online filing of Annual Statements, started in 2014, is a major success with 27,445 registered publications filing their statements for the year 2015-2016.

Encouraged by the successful implementation of e-filing of Annual Statements, digitization of title application and registration processes are also in the offing. The other services that are already in place include facility to view online the status of title verification and registration, and list of existing and de-blocked titles, sending status update of applications through SMS and e-mail, online download of Certificate of Registration and an effective Public Query Response Cell to help publishers, especially in far-flung places to redress their grievance quickly. As part of the modernization plan, the official website of RNI is being given a facelift in design. I urge all the publishers and other stakeholders to optimize the use of our website and help us to provide services in a speedy and accurate manner.

We sincerely hope this report will be of enormous help to print media, media analysts and research scholars to get hold of accurate and reliable data on print media in the country. We expect 'Press in India' to serve as a guide for aspiring publishers and public in general.

I am pleased to record my appreciation to the team of officials for their sincere efforts in bringing out 'Press in India 2015-16' and my gratitude to Hon'ble Minister of Urban Development, HUPA and Information & Broadcasting, Shri M. Venkaiah Naidu; Hon'ble Minister of State for Information & Broadcasting, Col. Rajyavardhan Rathore; Secretary in the Ministry of Information & Broadcasting, Shri Ajay Mittal and other officials of the Ministry of Information & Broadcasting for their ample guidance and unstinted support.
